DEFINING HEADWEAR

PROFILE Refers to the crown height of the cap above the visor. There are generally three types of cap profiles:

- Low profile
- Mid profile
- High profile

STRUCTURE A baseball cap can have buckram or stiff fabric behind the front two panels of the crown giving it structure and therefore it is called a structured cap. An unstructured cap has no additional support behind those front two panels. If you take a cap off your head and set it down on a flat surface, a structured hat will continue to look the same and generally keep its shape. An unstructured cap will collapse slightly without your head in the hat supporting it.

CLOSURE Adjustable baseball caps have closures on the back of the caps that allow you to adjust the size. Types of closures include:

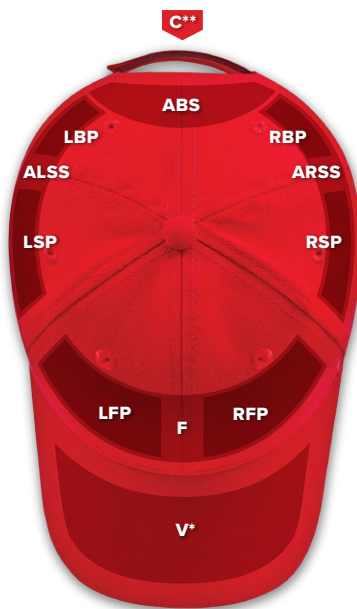

- Adjustable snapback, sometimes referred to as adjustable plastic snap tab
- Fabric strap with two piece hook & loop closure
- Stretchable hook & loop closure
- Fabric strap with antique sliding buckle
- Plus more options

FLEXFIT® The pioneer of stretch-fit headwear, the Flexfit® cap delivers a perfect blend of comfort & style. Available sizes are generally XS, S/M, L/XL and XXL.

FLEXFIT 110® A perfect combination of Flexfit® Tech & adjustability, the Flexfit 110® cap will provide impeccable fit & comfort.

Due to color variations of dye lots, exact color matches of material are not guaranteed. In camouflage patterns, variations may occur in the placement of certain areas of the pattern due to random cutting. Certain distressed materials will have shading variations.

TOLERANCE

Due to the nature of the process of embroidery and USA made knit manufacturing, variances can occur. For embroidery, there is a tolerance of 1/8". For knits, there is 1" tolerance that might cause some variations in product size.

COLOR MATCHING

Color matches are not guaranteed to be exact, whether PMS colors or color swatches. When decorating on camouflage, no guarantees can be made that the pattern will not interfere with decoration (i.e. a branch, leaf or bark may fall behind decoration). Cap America is not responsible for fabric bleeding which may occur when decorating with a light color on a dark fabric.
