OUR PROCESS

Experience Is Key

We pride ourselves in being a small, family run company in Houston, Texas. Our manufacturing department is one of the most experienced in the sports industry with over 350 years of combined experience in building shoulder pads.

Hands On Approach

Douglas has taken a hands on approach to building shoulder pads since day one. There is not a single pad that goes down our manufacturing line that isn't touched by at least 40 hands from start to finish. Our attention to detail sets us apart from our competition.

Custom Channel System

This unique system diverts impact away from the top of the shoulder. This system provides excellent protection from extreme bruising, clavicle breaks and shoulder separations. The removable Velcro attachments assure precise placement of additional padding exactly where you need it. The standard thickness comes in ½-inch.

THE ULTIMATE SHOULDER PAD
The Ultimate Protection

Innovative, Technological Leader

Through research and personal service, Douglas has worked to build the finest Air-Management pads available on the market. Our system uses 100% urethane open cell foam covered by a lightweight nylon to make the pads lighter, while giving players an extra cushion of protection.

Douglas also created the first removable channel system designed to divert impact away from the top of the shoulder. This major innovation allows players coming back from an injury or surgery to protect the affected area. Compare that to conventional pads that must be sent back to the factory for expensive, time consuming refitting.

Place Your Orders Early

Tight delivery schedules are usually no problem, but place your orders as early as possible. We pride ourselves on a quick delivery time. Orders will be processed as quickly as possible, but orders received in June, July, or August can take up to 4 weeks. Ask your dealer to "Rush Order" your shoulder pad to save time! The "Rush Order," which carries an extra charge, will advance your order to the front of the line, thereby saving you "weeks" in potential delays.

Reconditioning And A Great Warranty

We also offer a reconditioning service that allows pads to be refurbished by the same craftsmen who originally made the product, so they are as good as new. All CP and SP pads are protected by one of the industry's best warranties.

Douglas Custom Pro Series

The Douglas Custom Pro (CP) is the choice of many professional, college, and high school programs. That's no surprise because our CP pads offer numerous shell designs for each position, so players get the pad that best suits their style of play.

What's more, every pad in the CP series is available in a flat design to accommodate players who prefer a low-profile fit. When additional shoulder protection is desired, a thicker main body cushion is available on any CP Pad.

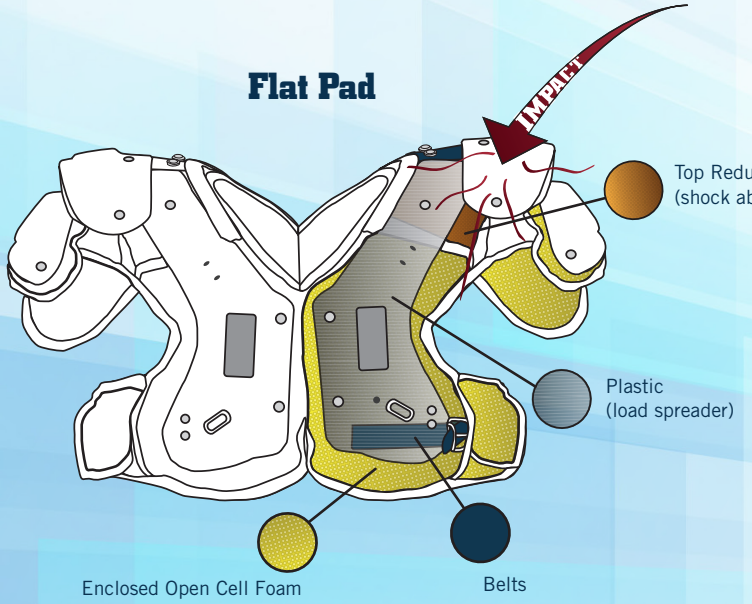

The CP series is Douglas' finest. Every CP pad is designed to the individual player's specification. So, when you choose our Custom Pro Series, you can count on a pad that enhances your performance, increases mobility, and helps prevent fatigue.

AIR-MANAGEMENT

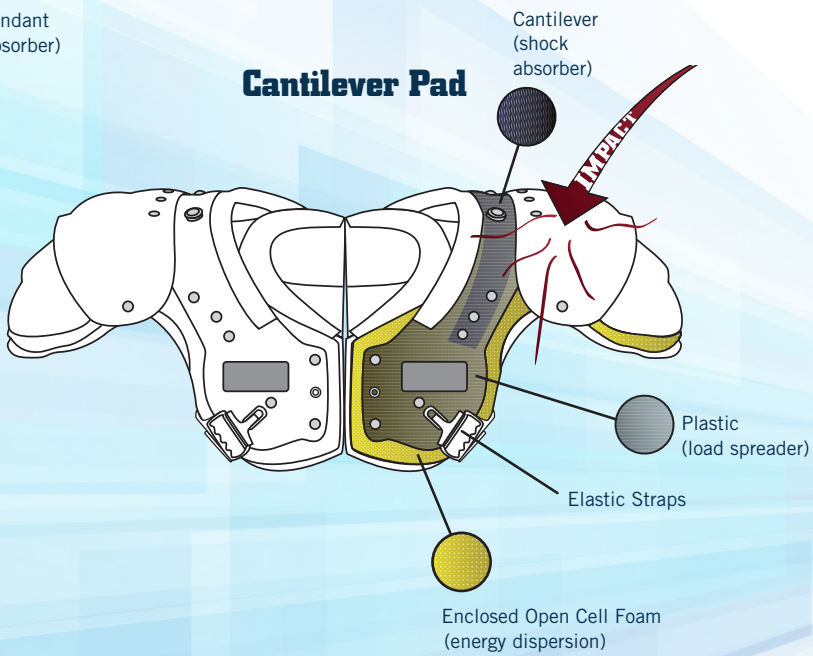

How Air-Management Works

The protective padding (cushion) of the shoulder pad is made of open cell foam. Within the foam are thousands of tiny air cells. By adhering the outer fabric to the foam, a sealed environment is created trapping the air inside of the cushion. When an outside force is exerted on to the shoulder pad shell (load spreader), the force causes the shell to push on the cushion, forcing the air to move within the cells of the foam out 360 degrees, thereby dispersing the blow from being felt straight in to the point of impact. There is a much wider area of dispersion, resulting in less trauma to the body.

SELECTING YOUR NEW PADS

Since 1986, the professionals at Douglas have worked one-on-one with customers to help them select the right pads and best options for their needs. Our goal is to outfit each player with a pad that allows them to compete at their highest level.

Remember, when taking an AC measurement, never lay the tape on the body. The best tool for measuring AC joints is a yardstick. Call your local dealer for any questions regarding the proper way to measure for Douglas shoulder pads.

MADE IN THE USA

Douglas Pads & Sports, Inc. has now been in the business of building and supplying football shoulder pads and accessories to the football industry for over 30 years. We remain as one of only a few suppliers to the industry that has kept a “hands-on, MADE IN AMERICA” philosophy when it comes to building our Custom and Standard Series pads and accessories.

With input from hundreds of equipment managers, trainers, and dealers that Douglas works with, we will continue to innovate and improve the equipment we supply to the industry.

Douglas EZ Pro Snap

Sports helmets, particularly football helmets, have undergone substantial changes over the last 50 years. Helmets are retained by a chin strap laced through buckles that snap onto the helmet. The buckles integrate ordinary snaps similar to snaps on a jacket. The chin strap fixes the helmet in position and is designed to retain the helmet on a player's head. Many current chin strap buckles become unsnapped during game play on impact or by other game circumstances, resulting in helmets coming off during play. As sports such as football have become higher velocity contests, helmets are coming off at increasing and alarming rates causing potential danger to participants.

Youth players often lack sufficient strength to properly snap current buckles. This results in incomplete engagement and uncertain stability and retention. Youth players are also often unsure when current buckles are actually properly engaged as a definitive " snap" is often unattainable.

- The EZ Pro Snap is designed to look and feel like a current buckle and snap for familiarity and seamless integration onto a current helmet.
- The EZ Pro Snap is designed to engage with ease and certainty allowing even youth athletes to secure their chin strap all by themselves.
- The EZ Pro Snap is designed not to come off unless both release buttons are pressed.
- The EZ Pro Snap is made of high impact resistant and non-abrasive plastic.

Available in white and black.

LEGACY SERIES

About Our Legacy Pads

Developed in 2017, the Legacy Shoulder Pad Series was named by our customers with one goal in mind — recognize those that have been designing and making the most protective shoulder pad on the market for 30 years — Rogers Douglas, Doug Douglas, and Jeff Douglas. Their choice for designs in this series will change your game. The Legacy Series is one of the most streamlined, low profile shoulder pad series on the market. These lightweight pads will still provide the maximum protection using the Air-Management system, but also allow the athlete more vision while playing the game due to their low-profile design. We hope you enjoy them!

About the JP 34

Douglas is proud to offer the Junior Pro 34. After many hours of research and analysis of the youth/junior market and shoulder pads in general, Douglas has designed the ultimate shoulder pad to protect your player. This pad is designed with the same Air-Management technology that Douglas uses to protect our Pro and Collegiate players. With our new streamlined design, this lightweight pad is perfect for your player. The JP34 features a lowered cantilever to sit closer to the body and absorb those big hits. Flat pads with belts are a "no no" in our book for players under 15, as these players have not developed enough to properly wear a flat pad. With our low-profile cantilever pad with elastic straps, your player will have maximum protection on the field.

COMMAND THE FIELD

THE DOUGLAS COMMANDO

is a lightweight, low-profile shoulder pad at an economical price. Due to the fact that youth football players are not muscularly developed, "Flat Pads" are not recommended for them. Therefore, the Commando is constructed featuring a shock absorbing cantilever design, reducing the energy absorbed by the player's body. The dual density construction will also assist in the energy absorption and dispersion aspects of the shoulder pad. The Commando features an extended front, adding more protection for the sternum.

ZENA SERIES

ZENA 25

SKILL POSITIONS

About Zena

After many years of use and feedback from players around the world who have worn Zena pads, Douglas has redesigned the series. The cushions have been streamlined to fit closer to the shell, reducing the bulk and weight. The "QB" series has been eliminated and replaced with the versatile "25" series, a true multi-position style pad. The belt and buckles have been removed to now offer a cantilever pad in the Zena series.

Douglas has incorporated the same Air-Management protective properties in the Zena series that has made Douglas the leader in the professional and collegiate ranks. The "patented" breast plate assembly allows a fit for all players, and is adjustable up and down. The anatomically designed pads specifically contour to fit a woman's body.

It is important that women athletes understand they now have a choice in innovative shoulder pad protection. AC measurement and bra cup size are needed when ordering your Zena pads.

About the Zena 25

The Zena 25 is the most versatile pad offered in our Zena line. Its low profile, light weight construction caters to all skill positions. It's recommended for QBs, running backs, wide receivers, defensive backs, linebackers, and kickers.

Weight approximately 4.75 lbs.

Available in S-L; A & B plate size
